In Memoriam: Kelly Turner

Kelly Turner passed away early in the morning of September 18, 2005 of systemic organ failure after a brief and totally unexpected illness. He was 43. Kelly was an extremely active fan and costumer for approximately two decades (early 70s to early 90s). In recent years, he attended fewer science fiction conventions because of his busy work and lecture schedule, but still maintained a healthy interest in the genre.

Kelly started costuming and attending science fiction conventions at an early age. He was a fan of the original STAR TREK and began attending meetings of S.T.A.R. San Diego late in 1974. S.T.A.R. was the San Diego chapter of the STAR TREK Association for Revival, which later evolved into a general science fiction club. At 14, Kelly was one of its youngest members. He was also a founding member of Infinity One, a second San Diego-based science fiction club started in 1978.

Among his first costumes were a Colonial Warrior uniform from the original BATTLESTAR GALACTICA TV series, and a dress uniform from the BUCK ROGERS TV series from the same era (late 1970s). Kelly and his mother worked together to draft the patterns and construct these costumes.

NOTE: DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSIONS FOR NEXT ISSUE IS JANUARY 15TH

In Memoriam: Bobby Gear

On June 25th, 2005 Bobby Gear died at the Gilchrist Hospice, of natural causes related to pancreatic cancer.

Bobby taught for 38 years in the Prince George’s County Maryland school system at Montpelier Elementary School and Buck Lodge Middle School where she touched thousands of lives. In the summer of 1992 she teamed with another dedicated teacher to create a free summer school 3 mornings a week that helped 25 foreign born children keep their hard won language skills sharp. A special project of hers was the Reading is Fundamental (RIF) program which provides free books for students.

She was an active member of the Baltimore Science Fiction Society (BSFS) where she encouraged BSFS to raise thousands of dollars each year during “Balticon” for the RIF program at her school. She supervised the annual Young Writers’ Contest was a past Treasurer of BSFS, and ran the Masquerade Green Room at Balticon, a task she performed for many other conventions.

Bobby was a founding member of both the Greater Columbia Fantasy Costumers’ Guild and the International Costumers’ Guild. Her first winning costume was “Lady of the Peacocks” at the 1986 Worldcon (Most Beautiful Novice) while her last competition costume was “Nanny Ogg” (part of a group costume) at the 2004 Worldcon (Most Humorous Master & Best Disc World);

One of the most effective uses of Fortuny style pleating exhibited was a piece that Justine Limpus Parish created called Nouveau Renaissance. The piece had been created for a Bernina Fashion show and was a wonderful example of painting techniques and subtle fabric manipulation. The cape was block and digital inket printed, hand painted and dyed. The back of the cape was a peacock whose tail feathers were painted and appliqued onto organza so that the dress underneath showed through, the dress was a beautiful peacock teal blue that was painted with peacock tail feathers as well and then fortuny pleated to release into the train where the full eyes of the tail trailed behind the wearer. While the photo doesn’t do justice to the beauty of the garment, you can see it at her home page at http://www.home.earthlink.net/~parishit/tdh.html

While many of the pieces appeared dated, now, all of the techniques that were used are very inspiring for a costumer or, for that matter, anyone who creates garments. I never would have thought to use expanding foam plastic to create a collar piece, but now I’ve got some ideas brewing around that. Ina Kozel’s majestic cape, Our Lady of Rather Deep Waters (yet another amazing example of the vibrant color and detail that silk allows you to achieve) was the one that used the expanding foam plastic, painted in a shimmering array of iridescent colors and looking every bit like an exotic coral reef.

Another favorite of mine (which sadly is not in the catalog) was a shift dress that used straight pins to simulate fur. Not the most practical garment for everyday wear, but an interesting concept that I’d like to try, maybe for a small handbag.

I had the good fortune this year to see the Artwear exhibit not once, but twice. In a clever marketing ploy, the museum had promised it would rotate the collection halfway through the exhibit period and bring out some new pieces, so of course, I had to return a second time to see what else they were going to treat us to.

For those of you who were unable to see the exhibit firsthand (and even those who did), I highly recommend the catalog of the exhibit — which features virtually all of the pieces that were on display, many of them shown on people rather than mannequins, and also highlights many other pieces of the featured artisans work. It is available thru the museum (www.thinker.org) or discounted at Amazon.com: Artwear: Fashion and Anti-Fashion published by Thames and Hudson ISBN — 13 978-0-500-28537-4

Ed Note: Unfortunately, this display is no longer in the museum; however, there is an online "tour" of the exhibit still available, at http://www.thinker.org/fam/press/press.asp?presskey=1994 — enjoy!

however, her favorite costume was "Flora" from the Disney "Sleeping Beauty" group.

She was also an accomplished quilt maker, winning awards on the local, state and national levels for her wearable art and for her wall quilts, many of which were displayed at the celebration of her life held on August 6th 2005 and attended by several hundred of her friends.

She is survived by her husband of 43 years, Alexander Martin Gear of Columbia, Maryland; sons and daughters-in-law Daniel Melville and K-Lynn Gear of Monroe, Virginia and John Martin and Mary Gear of Lansing, Michigan; grandchildren Alicia, Daniel, Michael, Wagicti, and Wanona Gear and brother Noll Butcher of Columbus, Ohio.

When he was 16, Kelly was part of the fan-based crew that built the "Voy Flyby" sets for STAR TREK: THE MOTION PICTURE in 1979 and additional sets and props for the SPECIAL EDITION of CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND. These jobs involved long hours and low pay, but he loved the work, and made lasting friendships with some of the other crew members, some of whom went on to have long and successful careers in the film industry. Kelly himself chose a computer programming career because the entry-level pay was better. However, Kelly always remained interested in the film industry, and some of the drybrushing and weathering techniques he learned on these builds were put to good use on his extensive collection of science fiction models. His interest in the film industry also ended up dovetailing into his professional life later in his career.

In the the early 1980s, Kelly developed an interest in anime (which was commonly called "Japanimation" in those days), and became a fan of STAR BLAZERS (aka SPACE CRUISER YAMATO). This led him to being involved in costumed groups from STAR BLAZERS, CAPTAIN HARLOCK, GALAXY EXPRESS 999, and ROBOTECH (aka MACROSS). He also was an early member of the Los-Angeles based Cartoon/Fantasy Organization, a club devoted to animation, mostly of Japanese origin. Kelly was often found haunting the Japanese import districts of Los Angeles and San Francisco, searching for just the right sourcebook or soundtrack album.

Kelly competed in the Master division at science fiction convention masquerades, and his costume credits include STAR BLAZERS (Comic-Con 1980), CAPTAIN HARLOCK (1980), THE ROYAL FAMILY OF AMBER (Westcon 1980), GALAXY EXPRESS 999 (Equinox 1981), LORD AND LADY VALENTINE (Westcon 1981), ELFQUEST (Comic-Con 1981), THE EGYPTIAN GODS (Devvention 1981), PYROGENESIS (Chicon 1982), TURN OF A FRIENDLY CARD (ConStellation 1983), NIGHT ON BALD MOUNTAIN (Lacon 1984), and DUNE (Westcon 1985, Loscon 1985, Costume-Con 1986). He brought meticulous skills to every group he worked with, including sewing, beading, sculpting, and casting in resin, slush latex, and foam latex.

Beginning in 1982, Kelly began to give back to the fannish community by helping to run conventions or departments within conventions. Kelly was part of the team that launched Costume-Con, which was conceived as a one-shot convention, and now will be celebrating its 24th year in spring 2006. Kelly worked on the committees of Costume-Con 1 and 2, and was the Chairman of Costume-Con 6. He was Masquerade Director for the 1982 and 1983 Baycon in San Jose and the 1986 Westcon in San Diego.

Kelly had considerable desktop publishing skills and used them for the usual convention PRs and program books, but also took on some projects that were much larger in scope. He was the managing editor of the first nine editions of The Whole Costumer’s Catalogue, an "annotated yellow pages" type resource book for people into costuming, crafting, fiberarts, art to wear, theater, etc. This book required considerable upkeep because so much of its contents would change from year to year as businesses went out of business, moved, changed phone numbers, etc. He also laid out and published several Future Fashion Folios, a design contest/published folio/fashion show concept started by Bjo Trimble at conventions she was involved with in the 1950s through 1970s, and continued by Costume-Con in the 1980s to present. He was also the first editor of, Costumer’s Quarterly, a magazine-format publication of the International Costumer’s Guild.

Kelly had an insatiable appetite for music. His tastes ranged from big band music from the 40s to the Japanese jazz used in some anime soundtracks, and just about everything in-between. He had a (Continued on Page 11)

Full of lush photography, Dressing A Galaxy: The Costumes of Star Wars, by Trish Biggar, is a feast for the eyes and an inspiration for anyone interested in textiles or costume-making. Intended as a coffee table book for fans of the movie, it has great appeal for those interested in the idea-screen process and side trips along the way. George Lucas’ foreword and producer Rick McCallum’s preface introduce the reader to designer Trish Biggar. They praise her skill, tact, organization and design acumen, giving kudos to her and to the costume designers, fabricators and CGI artists who worked on the Star Wars movies for their creativity and diligence in bringing Lucas’ visions to life.

Dressing a Galaxy gives you an overview of costuming a series of movies that incorporates elements from many disparate cultures. A very different look was required to realize Lucas’ concept of the universe in Episode III, as opposed to the austere universe represented in Episodes IV-VI. Sprinkled throughout the book are anecdotes of issues created by stunt requirements, emotional content, and even the weather. Comments from John Mollo, the designer for Episodes IV-VI, illustrate the difference in working environments between the two sets of movies.

The book is divided into sections that separate the types of characters and costumes-Jedi vs. Sith, Royalty, Military Wear, and so on. This adds a nice flow to the book that works with the characters and story line of the movies. Each section starts with an introduction, followed by several pages of character sketches by concept artists Ian Mccag, Sang Yun Lee, and Dermot Power. Inspiration flows from their sketches to the costumes. Ms Biggar’s use of custom fabrics from manufacturers in India and China, antique fabrics and trims, and elaborate surface treatments add extra dimension to the costumes. Detail photographs included illustrate the richness and subtlety of these elements. A collage of stills from all of the movies at the end of each section shows the costumes in action. Comments from Liam Neeson, Natalie Portman, Carrie Fisher, Mark Hamill and many others illustrate how the costumes assist the actors to develop a better understanding of their roles.

There are also images of CGI characters like Boss Nass and Yoda. Comments from animation director Rob Coleman, simulation supervisor Juan-Luis Sanchez and others discuss challenges in making the characters meld seamlessly with the live action.

At the end of the book is a Costume Index of the Star Wars costumes for Episodes I-VI. It is fascinating to see the old and the new together. While there was clearly a need to keep these images small, it would have been nice if they were a little larger. The book is closed with acknowledgments to the many people who made this undertaking possible, and the list of design and wardrobe staff for all six movies.

This book is a must have for any costumer’s library. There is a wealth of information and inspiration in the comments, sketches and photographs in Dressing a Galaxy. A limited edition is available with extra items - copies of design sketches, costume swatches and so on.

Costume-Con 24 Membership: Des Moines - “The” place to be this coming May!

Tickets to your (or their) favorite Broadway production. (Wicked... Lion King... just about any opera...)

For those of us on the tight-budgeted side (just had to have that extra 3 yards of silk while you were in Britex earlier, eh?)

What about pickings from your own stash? There’s a costumer I know who keeps a box of gorgeous trims hidden away... wrap something festive or sparkly in ribbon and paper, and give it to the ones you love best!

Or offer services: are you especially good at hemming a circular hem (a skill after 20 years in the field I still struggle with)? What about a certificate offering help on a project (and then follow up).

Good luck, and remember to be thankful for what we have today!

Artwear Fashion and Anti-Fashion Display Reviewed by Linda Wenzelberger

Artwear has fascinated me even before I started costuming. Back in the late 80’s, I happened upon Julie Schafler Dale’s book, Art to Wear. At the time I was entrenched in my first job in the garment industry where we produced the exact opposite of what I was seeing in that book. I was becoming disillusioned about the fashion industry and what it took to get garments into the stores, especially thousands of identical garments... I needed to see clothing with a soul. And Art to Wear opened up that world for me. So it was with much excitement that I awaited this exhibit.

I was not disappointed.

We were treated to a visual feast of color and texture. As appetizers, there were examples of a Fortuny (a gorgeous pale blue delphos with a gold on blue stencil printed coat) and Aesthetic dress that introduced the viewer to the concept that embellishments and rebellious fashion had been around for quite a long time. And you could see the influences of these garments in some of the pieces in the exhibit.

There were wearable and unwearable pieces that showcased a wide range of technique. Applique, crochet, knitting, fabric painting and manipulation, assemblage of found objects, and more than a little humor were all showcased. And artwear even extended into the digital realm toward the end of the exhibit with a hypnotic 3-D coat that danced alone, suspended in the darkness of a video display.

OH, WHAT FUN WE HAD!!
(News and Reports from ICG Chapters Around the Country)

Costumers Guild West (Annie Mitschek, Vice President, and Margery Rich, Corresponding Secretary):
The Costumer's Guild West year started out rather sluggishly in unusually wet weather. As we began to dry out we ventured forth to spend a day with the Los Angeles Live Steamers, a group of train hobbyists. Our main focus has become Costume College, which now draws costumers from all over the country to learn new techniques and aspects of the craft. Groups of our members have been on "field trips" to local museum exhibits, including "King Tut" and "Star Wars," and to a Civil War Reenactment battle. We have also sponsored costume competitions at the Los Angeles County Fair and local Science Fiction conventions. CGW members are lucky to live in an area where many groups offer costume-wearing opportunities, particularly various types of vintage dancing, including Regency, Victorian, Ragtime, and 1940s. At this writing we are looking forward to our Winter Holiday Party where much good food and conviviality are to be found. Happy Holidays to All!!

Greater Delaware Valley Costumers Guild, aka The Lunatyk Phrynge (Rob Himmelsbach, DVCG Treasurer – and APA member!):
The Greater Delaware Valley Costumer's Guild, aka The Lunatyk Phrynge, is a small group centered in Philadelphia, and we haven't been particularly busy this year; a bad attack of Real Life has hit most of us. We are currently finalizing our plans for running the Masquerade at Philcon 2005 (December 9-11), having had the location moved around the hotel three times! (The American Public Health Association annual conference, scheduled for November in New Orleans, had to suddenly be rescheduled, after they held the rehearsal for the end of the world there – so it got moved to Philadelphia – in December – right on top of Philcon, which is in one of the main hotels attached to the Convention Center!!) We look to be operational for this year and are looking forward to our move next year to a new hotel and back to early November! Thanks to Randall Whitlock for picture of DVCG members Diane Harris, Randall Whitlock, Jean Palmer, and Paula Lary.

Silicon Web Costumers Guild (SIW) (Carole Parker, Recording Secretary):
Silicon Web, the Internet-based chapter of the ICG, has grown to 35 members with most living in the U.S. and Canada. We have an online newsletter, the Virtual Costumer, and a Yahoo groups list to keep us in touch. We are truly a costuming community without borders. You can join online in any currency and from anywhere in the world. Find us at www.siwcostumers.com

Our members have been very active in costuming and the ICG. This year, Deborah Salisbury won best-in-show SF/F at Costume-Con 23. Betsy Delaney (SIW Vice-President and BOD rep) is stepping down as editor of the ICG newsletter and stepping into the position of Acting Editor is another SIW member, Denizel Hartlowe. Dana MacDermott (SIW President and ICG Recording Secretary) ran Programming at Costume-Con 23, and Carole Parker (SIW Secretary) held several positions at SiliCon, a San Francisco Bay Area media-oriented science fiction convention. Richard "Didjiman" Mann was the studio photographer for the SiliCon masquerade green room, and several more SIW members were programming participants. Henry Osier is also heading up a bid for Costume-Con 2010 in Milwaukee.

SIW has created a Dreamcatcher special masquerade award for the innovative use of technology and/or creative problem solving. The first Dreamcatcher award was presented this year at BayCon, a San Jose, CA convention.

Southwest Costumer's Guild - Phoenix, AZ (Diane Harris, President, SWCG):
This year has been a year of change. We kept some of the old, and also tried some new ideas. We had "individual project" workshops that lasted a whole day. We led new panels; Corsets, Sci Fi, Fantasy vs. Victorian, Presentation at Masquerade - What's it all About?, and did a Rip and Tear panel for kids where we basically took existing "stuff" and pulled it together to create a costume for kids attending the conventions - a great hit and lots of fun!

Some of us went to events we hadn't attended before; SASS Convention in Las Vegas (actually it was December of 2004 - but close enough). Some of got more involved with The Dark Ones - a local fannish group. We did a photo shoot so anyone could get a good shot of at least 10 of their costumes. We had a chain mail class demonstrated by Pete Manley.

Some of us went to a Civil War reenactment - I believe the only one in Arizona - Picacho Peak. Some of us went to a WAR (SCA) event. We attended a local "Glendale Glitters" event in the historic downtown of Glendale, AZ dressed in a Victorian era - it was delightful - there were hot air balloons doing "glows", horse-drawn carriages to ride around the square in, and plenty of public exposure. It was a very eclectic year - perfectly suited for costumers.

We are looking forward to even more change in 2006. We may be going to events between regular monthly meetings - local SCA events, SCI-FI and fantasy events, Victorian Teas, Jane Austin Society, Period Balls, SASS events, Festival of the West, etc.

We also have mini-meetings (between our regular monthly meeting times) designed just for those who want to focus on a specific area of costuming (i.e., corsetry, Flemish garb, Regency garb). Many of our members already have costumes that represent those periods and may not want to take up an entire monthly meeting. We are also looking at having our monthly meetings on different days of the week so we can accommodate those of our members who work on weekends. Of course, as in costuming, everything is subject to "morphing".

All in all, our Chapter is looking for more ways to get "public exposure" and "compliments" on our costuming efforts.
All Individual ICG members receive The ICG Newsletter, which is included in the ICG membership fee.

- ICG Individual Member dues per year: As of July 1, 2004, US$6.00.
- ICG Household Member dues per year: As of April 29, 2005, US$2.00 (no publications included).

Full “Individual” Chapter members receive the Chapter’s newsletter, when published, and may also offer additional amenities as well. The ICG now offers the Household Member option for members residing at a single address in which there is at least one full “Individual” Chapter member. Household membership fees are at a discounted rate, and provide for all benefits except publications. Some Chapters also offer “Household” memberships rates. Generally speaking, Household members receive all chapter/ICG benefits, with the exception of additional publications.

A Proud Member of the International Costumers Guild...
(ADVERTISEMENT)
ICG Board Minutes (As Submitted by ICG Recording Secretary Dana MacDermott)

September 15: Concern was expressed by the Newsletter editor (Betsy Delaney) because an updated list for mailing the Newsletter had not been supplied by the Treasurer.

Motion 08-05-02 was passed with a 13 to 0 vote. Confirmed September 16, 2005.

NEW: Standing Rule 14: The text in the By-Laws Article V, Section 6 shall be construed to include all e-mail, electronic or internet discussion lists or any other similar technology now existing or to be developed which allows communication with all relevant parties.

NEW: Standing Rule 15: Any debatable motion made and seconded before any type of electronic, e-mail or internet meeting will require the following action.

A. The president will assign a motion number to the motion
B. The president will electronically mail the motion number and a restatement of the motion to all voting and consulting members of the electronic forum in use. This mailing will include a feature requiring an automatic notification of receipt. This notification will include a specified period of discussion and the starting date for voting.
C. A minimum of fifteen (15) days shall be allowed for discussion of all debatable motions.
D. A minimum of fifteen (15) days shall be allowed for the voting period.
E. In order to pass the motion must be actively voted on by at least 2/3 of the voting members of the body. Any vote, either in the affirmative, negative or specifically stated abstention shall be a valid vote.

And renumber existing Standing Rule 20 to Standing Rule 16:

(20) In order to establish voting privileges at any meeting, membership dues must be received by the Treasurer no later than fourteen (14) days prior to the meeting date. [Adopted 2/21/94; amended 5/29/95; renumbered 5/26/97, renumbered 8/31/03, renumbered 04/29/05)]

And finally, renumber all remaining Standing Rules (14-19, 21-26) to reflect the changes.

September 16: Betsy Delaney (Newsletter Editor, and SIW rep.) summarized the issues which the BOD has currently as high priority: Who should have access to the BOD list.

Legal issues of ICG re-organization to comply with the Federal requirements as discussed in the email from Darla Kruger.

Betsy Delaney (SIW) moved that we enter a Committee of the Whole. The motion was seconded by Dana MacDermott (Recording Secretary). This motion is for the purpose of allowing discussion of who should be allowed access to the BOD list meetings for observation or participation. It is necessary in order to allow discussion not directed towards a specific motion, but for the purpose of the exchange of ideas. The motion was assigned number 09-05-01.

September 17: The motion (09-05-01) was put on hold by the ICG President Carl Mami for clarification of rules of order and setting of a time limit.

Discussion on the failure of many chapters to send in their updates and dues.

As of Sept 17th the numbers and last date of communication for the chapters were:

- Beyond Reality - 68 - April, 05
- CGW - 109 - February, 05
- Chicagoland - 5 - January, 05
- Greater Delaware - 11 - July, 05
- Greater Bay - 220 - September, 05
- Greater Columbia - 12 - April, 05
- Northern Lights - 33 - September, 05
- Sick Pups - 30 - April, 05
- Silicon Web - 34 - September, 05
- St Louis - 35 - September, 05
- Southwest - 10 - July, 05
- Utah - 7 - May, 05

The ICG President increased the responsibilities of the Recording Secretary to include monthly minutes of the online meetings.

September 26: Betsy Delaney resigned as Newsletter editor. In an email to the BOD she indicated that the ICG President had transferred the responsibility for making corrections to the Newsletter mailing list (which prior to this was supplied for each issue by the Treasurer from the current list of membership according to her records) to the Newsletter editor. The Newsletter editor delineated the extent of her responsibilities which included the communication to the Treasurer of the address corrections received from each mailing. It was the contention of the Editor that the Treasurer was not making these corrections to the master membership list and was additionally not supplying the mailing list to the editor as required.

The ICG President in a quoted email said:

"Betsy you update your list with the information sent to you. Betsy any mistakes will be yours to correct. If your (Betsy) list is different so be it instruct all treasurers and Reps that any problem you will handle Dora please instruct the treasurers of my decision"

The Newsletter editor indicated this extension of her responsibilities in addition to writing, being responsible for the printing, collating, sorting for mailing, and mailing was more work load than she could accept, and resigned.

The President stands by his message and further reiterated that he accepted Betsy's resignation because "I stand by my e-mail to Betsy and Dora. If the newsletter requires different information than what is submitted by the chapters then it is an issue of the newsletter to correct......she is unable to perform her duties and I must allow her to resign."

Sept 27, 2005 Betsy Delaney, former Newsletter Editor, uploaded the following files to the Yahoo Groups Files section:

Directions for mailing the newsletter (Word and RTF), The mailing label merge file (Word version), The return address labels (WordPerfect version), The Postage Permit Block (WordPerfect version)

September ended with the reminder that the Chapter updates are due the 6th of every month.
ICG BOD Online meeting. October, 2005

Note on context: Motion (09-05-01) was on the floor. This motion was to set up a "committee of the whole" which would allow discussion among the BOD members to consider who would be allowed to view the BOD on line meetings, and who would be allowed to participate in the discussions.

By recent Presidential ruling, only BOD members are allowed to see the discussions.

October 4 through 9: Friendly amendment set the time for discussion at 30 days.

Questions were raised about the voting eligibility for BOD members who had expired ICG memberships. President ruled that expired BOD members could vote unless they were replaced by the chapter or the chapter was dismissed from the rolls. If anyone objects, he would stop the voting until the chapter picks a new rep.

Betsy Delaney (SIW) requested we look at the membership status of the BOD reps.

Byron Connell (NJ/NY) pointed out that according to the by-laws, lapsed ICG membership was not cited as a reason for a BOD representative to lose voting rights. He requested a Parliamentary ruling.

October 10: In response to questions, the Treasurer, Dora Buck, reported the membership renewal dates for the ICG BOD members. Four chapters had reps who had lapsed. The Treasurer also reported the last time when chapters had submitted their membership updates.

- Beyond Reality Costumers Guild - April 2005
- Chicagoland Costumers Guild - January 2005
- Costumers Guild West - February 2005
- Greater Bay Area Costumers Guild - October 2005
- Greater Columbia Fantasy Costumers Guild - April 2005
- Greater Delaware Valley Costumers Society - October 2005
- NJ/NY Costumers Guild - April 2005
- Northern Lights Costumers Guild - October 2005 in receipt of new information no payments
- St. Louis Costumers Guild - October 2005 in receipt of new information no payments
- Silicon Web Costumers Guild - October 2005
- Southwest Costumers Guild - October 2005
- Utah Costumers Guild - May 2005
- Darla Kruger (CGW) corrected CGW's last reporting and payment to April, 2005.

October 11: The Parliamentarian (Pierre Pettinger) "reluctantly" ruled that according to the by-laws, lapsed BOD members were still able to hold their position and cast votes.

Betsy Delaney (SIW) pointed out that there was a conflict between the By-Laws and Standing rules on requirement of active membership for a BOD member.

October 14: The Parliamentarian ruled that the by-laws trump the standing rules and the earlier ruling stood. (Further conflicts will be brought up and dealt with later.) A BOD member must be an ICG member when appointed.

October 22: Only 8 votes were cast, so the ICG President ruled the motion failed.

Betsy Delaney (SIW) raised question about voting rules due to an apparent conflict between by-Laws and Standing rules on how non-votes are counted in respect to votes needed to pass a motion.

Dana MacDermott (Recording Secretary) moved to add a new Standing rule:

The Online ICG BOD mailing list:

1) Any ICG member in good standing may subscribe to the ICG-BOD Yahoo Group list. Members of the list must provide their real names to the list maintainers to be verified as members in good standing with the ICG.

2) Any ICG member in good standing may address the ICG BOD through the ICG-BOD Yahoo Group list if he or she is sponsored by a current ICG BOD member.

3) Any member of the ICG-BOD Yahoo Group who is not identified as an official Chapter Representative or Officer of the Corporation may not vote on any business brought before the BOD on the ICG-BOD Yahoo Group list.

4) Any member of the ICG-BOD Yahoo Group list may be removed from that list, with appropriate warning, as outlined in the rules of access published on the list in the file "mailing-lists.txt" (sent automatically every month to all members of the list)."

Seconded by Betsy Delaney (SIW)

President Carl Mami called a 15 day recess to ascertain whether we had all chapters "present".

October 23: Chapters were requested to check in for a roll call.

Byron Connell (NJ/NY) submitted a motion that the Board direct the officers to take all necessary steps to prepare and submit to the Internal Revenue Service a "Group Exemption Letter," as provided in IRS publication 557, "Tax-Exempt Status for Your Organization," (2) that said letter include the New Jersey-New York Chapter, and (3) that said letter include any and all other chapters that desire to be included. Seconded by Dora Buck (Treasurer)

October 24: President Carl Mami stated we are in a recess, and neither motion was given a number.

October 27-29: Parliamentarian Pierre Pettinger ruled that complex analysis shows conflicts in our rules about voting. He determined (among other things rule 15 (e) to be void. By this analysis, motion 09-05-01 actually passed.

Dana MacDermott (Recording Secretary) and Betsy Delaney (SIW) indicated they would prefer to withdraw their subsequent motion in order to allow the Committee of the whole to occur. (It did not, however, come to pass and we are discussing the motion under question as we write this.)

October 30-31: Byron Connell (NJ/NY) requested consideration of his motion (which was originally made unknowingly during a recess) as soon as possible.

The Parliamentarian and the President indicated that as soon as the recess was over, a number would be assigned and the motion could proceed while the committee of the whole was occurring.
HUGE collection of LPs and CDs, a high percentage of them movie or TV soundtrack albums. He would readily discuss the musical phrasing in a John Williams score, or how James Horner's style developed directly out of Jerry Goldsmith's. He was self-taught on the piano, and was always looking for interesting sheet music to further stretch his skills. He loved concerts and live musical theater, followed all the Andrew Lloyd Webber musicals in the 80s, had recently seen a production of "Wicked," and was planning to see the San Francisco premiere of the Anne Rice "Vampire Lestat" musical this December.

Kelly also had a keen interest in Disney parks and Disneyana. He started going to Disneyland as soon as he was old enough to buy a bus ticket and go by himself (about age 12). He first visited the Epcot theme park in Florida only a couple of months after it opened in 1982, and it was his favorite of all the Disney parks thereafter.

Kelly also collected art. Many pieces were originals by "name" science fiction and fantasy artists. Others were movie one-sheets, or limited-edition prints done of Disney parks, or by Disney artists. He had a fine sense of color and composition, and purchased things that pleased him, not just things that would accrue in value.

Kelly first moved to the Bay Area in 1984, and always maintained ties there even if he was living and working in other parts of the state. Kelly loved playing host, and threw some large and memorable New Year's parties at his San Jose home during his employment with Atari. Starting in the 1990s, he did volunteer work for the Bay Area gay community. Later, he purchased a second home in Palm Springs, and planned to retire there. He co-owned a restaurant in Palm Springs named Blame It On Midnight, did some of the work on their web site, and was active in planning some of the special events held there.

Kelly's hobbies and outside interests made him uniquely suited for recognizing good game concepts, or other properties (such as movies) that could make good games. He was well-versed in licensing, marketing, and working with Hollywood talent. He was a speaker at the Game Developers Conference and the Classic Gaming Expo earlier this year, and was scheduled to lecture at the ShowBiz Expo in November. Most recently, he was Executive Producer of external development at Eidos, Inc, and sat on the Board of Governors of the Producer's Guild of America's New Media Council. He was the first game producer to sit on the aforementioned Board of Governors, and was very proud of that accomplishment. He had just started a new job with Point of View and was about to move back to Southern California when he came down with his final illness.

Kelly is survived by his mother, Mrs. Rosetta Turner, older siblings Bobby, Roz, and Margie, his current life partner, Tom Grissinger, and by a wide circle of friends.

If you would like to donate to a charity in Kelly's name, a memorial fund has been set up for him by the Movie Producers Guild:
Kelly Turner Memorial Fund, Producers Guild of America
8530 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 450
Beverly Hills, CA 90211
Please make out the check to the "Producers Guild of America" and write "Kelly Turner Memorial Fund" in the memo field.

Ed. Note: These two poems were submitted by Marty Gear and by Jennifer TiFFt, in memory of Bobby Gear and Kelly Turner:

Miss Me... But Then Let Me Go
by J.M. Boudreau
When I come to the end of the road
And the sun has set for me
I want no rites in a gloom-filled room
Why cry for a soul set free?

Miss me a little... but not too long.
And not with your head bowed low.
Remember the Love we once shared.
Miss me... but then let me go.

For this is a journey we all must take
And each must go alone.
It is part of our Lord’s plan,
And a step on the road to home.

When you are lonely and sick at heart
Go to the friends we know;
And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds
Miss me... but then let me go.

**********************************************************

In Memory of Kelly Turner
by Jennifer TiFFt
O gentle man, by many loved, too soon
Art taken from the arms that would enfold
Your loving self forever and a day:
Now naught but clay and earth-dissevered soul.
O ardent heart that loved both night and noon,
No friend forgot or obligation sold,
Undone by fire no friendship could allay
Or skill undo as mind and sense it stole.
O patient hands - with sand the cloth is strewn
As death suspends all art but grief, makes bold:
This no masquerade all dressed in dark array;
With Feyd now you are gone: our hearts pay toll.
But comfort we each other, for we know
Thou wert well loved, and not alone did go.
